

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A high-frequency incision device includes a high-frequency treating wire 9, which forms a curved portion 11 so that a wire loop 10 formed by the wire 9 may be laterally tilted in a plane parallel to the center axis 7a of an actuating wire 7 when the wire 9 extends from the forward end of a flexible sheath 2.